Long, long ago there lived at the foot of the mountain a poor farmer and his aged, widowed mother. They owned a bit of land which supplied them with food, and they were humble, peaceful, and happy. The country Shining was governed by a despotic leader who though a warrior, had a great and cowardly shrinking from anything suggestive of failing health and strength. This caused him to send out a cruel proclamation. The entire province was given strict orders to immediately put to death all aged people. The poor farmer loved his aged mother and the order filled his heart with sorrow. He took a quantity of unwhitened rice and he cooked, dried it, and tied it in a square cloth, which he swung in a bundle around his neck along with a gourd filled with cool, sweet water. Then he lifted his helpless old mother to his back and started on his painful journey up the mountain.

47. Read the following paragraph and answer the questions given below.

The small society of Rameswaram was very rigid in terms after segregation of different social groups. However, my science teacher, Sivasubramania Iyer, though an orthodox Brahmin with a very conservative wife, was something of a rebel. He did his best to break social barriers so that people from varying backgrounds could mingle easily. He used to spend hours with me and would say, "Kalam, I want you to develop so that you are on par with the highly educated people of the big cities". One day he invited me to this home for a meal. His wife was horrified at the idea of a Muslim boy being invited to dine in her ritually pure kitchen. She refused to serve me. Sivasubramania Iyer did not get angry with his wife but instead, he served me with his own hands and sat down beside me to eat his meal. His wife watched us from behind the kitchen door. I wondered whether she had observed any difference in the way I ate rice, drank water or cleaned the floor after the meal. When I was leaving his house, Sivasubramania Iyer invited me to join him for dinner again the next weekend. Observing my hesitation, he told me not to get upset, saying, "Once you decide to change the system such problems have to be confronted". When I visited his house the next week, Siva Subramanya Iyer's wife took me inside her kitchen and served me food with her own hands.

- Questions :
- Who was the narrator's science teacher?
  - What did he want Kalam to do?
  - How did Sivasubramania Iyer react when his wife refused to serve Kalam?
  - How did Sivasubramania Iyer's wife behave on Kalam's second visit?

(OR) Read the following poem and answer the questions given below.

*I am the Earth and the earth is me
 Each blade of grass, each honey tree,
 Each bit of mud and stick and Stone
 Is blood and muscle, Skin and bone.
 And just as I need every bit of me
 To make my body fit.
 So the earth needs grass and stone and tree
 And things that grow here naturally.
 That's why we celebrate this day.
 That's why across the world we say:
 As long as life, as dear, as free,
 I am the Earth and the Earth is me.*

- Questions :
- Who is the speaker in this poem?
  - What does the Earth need for its growth?
  - What is compared to blood and muscles?
  - Give a suitable title to this poem?
