Developing good habits at an early age can help to pave the way for a bright and successful future. There are a lot of things that we do on day to day basis but only a few of them stay with us as we grow. Reading is one such habit that we should all develop as this not only adds to our knowledge and enlightens our mind, but also helps to polish our language skills and vocabulary. Reading books that you like can help you to release stress and relax. Whether you are reading a school textbook or a novel, books expand your horizon and open your door to a vast ocean of knowledge. Once you start reading and make books your companion, there is no looking back. Books benefit you in ways you would have never even thought of. Reading helps to stimulate your mind and divert your focus from issues and problems that are responsible for your stress. A Book has the power to take you to other realms and fill your mind with positivity. You can try reading motivational books and novels. By reading, you come across a lot of information that may come in handy at the most unexpected times. It is believed that the depth of a person's knowledge is directly proportional to his/her ability to tackle any challenging situation. The more you know, the better it is. One of the best things that you can do is read a book and then start discussing it with your friends.

47. (i) Read the following passage and answer the questions given below:

A sanctuary may be defined as a place where Man is passive and the rest of Nature is active. Till quite recently, Nature had her own sanctuaries, where man either did not go at all or only as a tool-using animal in comparatively small numbers. But now, in this machinery age, there is no place left where man cannot go with overwhelming forces at his command. He can strangle to death all the nobler wild life in the world today. Tomorrow he certainly will have done so, unless he exercises due foresight and self-control in the meantime. There is not the slightest doubt that birds and mammals are now being killed off much faster than they can breed. And it is always the largest and noblest forms of life that suffer most. The whales and elephants, lions and eagles, go. The rats and flies, and all mean parasites, remain. This is inevitable in certain cases. But it is wanton killing off that I am speaking of to-night. Civilized man begins by destroying the very forms of wild life he learns to appreciate most when he becomes still more civilized. The obvious remedy is to begin conservation at an earlier stage, when it is easier and better in every way, by enforcing laws for close seasons, game preserves, the selective protection of certain species, and sanctuaries.

Questions :

- a) What is a sanctuary?
 b) Why do you think man is dominant in machinery age?
 c) Do you think that birds and mammals are reduced nowadays? Why?
 d) How can we save the birds and mammals?

(OR)

- ii) Read the following poem and answer the questions given below:

Woodman, that tree!
 Touch not a single bough
 In youth, it sheltered me
 And I'll protect it now
 'T was my forefather's hand
 That placed it near his cot
 There, woodman, let it stand,
 Thy axe shall harm it not!
 When but an idle boy
 I sought its grateful shade;
 In all their gushing joy
 Here, too, my sisters played,
 My mother kissed me here,
 My father pressed my hand
 Forgive this foolish tear,
 But let that oak stand!
 My heartstrings round thee cling
 Close as thy bark, old friend!
 Here shall the wild birds sing,
 And still, thy branches bend.
 Old tree! The storm still brave!
 And woodman leave the spot;
 While I have a hand to save,
 Thy axe shall harm it not -
 George Pope Morris

Questions :

- a) Why does the poet want the woodman to spare the trees?
 b) Who planted the trees?
 c) What was the poet's favourite time pass?
 d) How can we save trees?
