29. The struggles undergone by the young seagull:

The struggles that the seagull underwent to overcome its fear of flying make everyone feel sympathy for him. To begin with, he was afraid of flying out of the ledge, for he feared he would fall headlong into the water and die. When he refused to accompany his family, he was threatened to be left alone on the ledge and they did so. As a result, he was alone on his ledge. As he had not eaten since the previous nightfall, he was hungry. Hence he was forced to eat a dried piece of mackerel's tail at the far end of his ledge. After that, there was not a single scrap of food left on the ledge. He even started biting the dried pieces of eggshell. He walked back and forth from one end of the ledge to the other desperately trying to find some means of reaching his parents without having to fly. He even pretended to be falling asleep standing on the edge of the ledge. He waited a moment in surprise, wondering why she did not come nearer, and there maddened by hunger, he dived at the fish. With a loud scream, he fell outwards and downwards into space. Still they took no notice of him. All these incidents state that he underwent indescribable struggles. But hunger stirred him to dive and he realised that he could fly with his wings.

30. The Selection and training process:

As regards the selection process, out of the thirty women who had applied, six of them were shortlisted, based on the survival skills they showcased. The crew was mentored by Commander Dilip Donde. Then they got acquainted themselves with sail boat. They slowly got used to it through three years of training. Before the expedition, they started with some theoretical courses on navigation, communication and weather prediction. They were also given hands-on training as to how to repair things and deal with emergencies, when the weather got tough. In addition, Aishwarya said that they underwent their basic training courses in Mumbai at the Indian Naval Waterman ship Training Centre (INWTC), and at various schools in the southern naval base in Kochi. They even sailed on INSV Mhadei to Mauritius and back and also to Cape Town in December 2016. This trip was on how to manage food, water and even electricity during the big voyage.

31. Man Does change with Time:

Man does change with time. According to Sanyal, Aditya was a boy who could never compete him in scholastic or non-scholastic activities. He was a liar and an envious personality. But, years later Aditya no longer is the same personality. He is more matured and responsible. His childish nature makes him feel guilty for stealing the medal that belonged to Sanyal. Aditya now wanted to restore Sanyal, his lost happiness. Knowing about his financial constraints, he decides to give him the cost of the silver medal. He drives with a firm determination to his ancestral house. When he reaches, he rushes to the attic. Aditya gets on top of a packing case and pushes his hand inside the ventilator, upsetting a sparrow's nest. However, he heaves a sigh of relief when he gets what he had been looking for. He goes straight to the Jeweller to determine the current rate of the medal in the market. All these surely show a remarkable change in him. Even when Sanyal behaves rudely, Aditya is courteous and friendly. His only intention is penitence. He is so mature that he even understands and justifies the grievances Sanyal had in his heart. When Sanyal prefers the medal, without second thoughts he restores it to Sanya whole-heartedly.

32. Technology is a boon:

Technology has not only made a normal person's life easier but it is also a boon to people with inabilities. Alisha says that she cannot physically type as she thinks because she has cerebral palsy. She uses a technology called Dragon Dictate. When she speaks, the words appear on her screen and then she prints them out. Now she can even do Maths for her General Certificate of Secondary Education (GCSE). If someone has limited movement he/she can control a computer screen with Eye Gaze or move from page to page using the pupils of the eyes. Twenty one year old David was born with Athetoid Cerebral Palsy. Technology enables him to communicate with others and be independent. For verbal communication he uses Liberator Communication Device which he controls with eye movement. He has an ACTIV controller in the headrest of his chair in his bed room. He can control his TV, Blue sky and music players. World renowned physicist Stephen Hawking is the best example to show how technology can help a talented mind to overcome the physical impairments. The Assistive Technology helped him to contributing productively to the world. Newer technology allows differently abled learners to learn with their peers as well as contributing fruitfully to the collaborative process of learning.

Section - II

33. Some crickets have four legs and some have two:

Some crickets, like the one in the poem, have four legs and other crickets have two. The poet uses a metaphor to compare the crickets with two legs to humans. In the poem, the cricket wasted his time by living in the moment. He would always relax and sing throughout the warm summer and spring. While the ant was busy collecting food and storing it up for the long and cold winter, the cricket was procrastinating and being lazy. Similarly, there are many other people just like the cricket who while away their time instead of getting to work. Such people do not plan for their future and consequently have to face the harsh reality of failure. Therefore, the poet sends us a message through the poem that we should not be like the cricket but strive to be like the ant who worked hard and planned to have a comfortable future.

34. Central Theme of No Men are foreign:

The theme of the poem is universal brotherhood and renunciation of war. The poet tells us that all humans are the same and are brothers. We all have similar bodies and needs in life. Our livelihoods are same and so are our ends. We all flourish in times of peace and suffer during winter. We all work and think in similar manner and live in the same earth; therefore, we must overcome superficial differences and live in a united manner.

Respected Sir,

Sub: Unsanitary Condition-reg.

I am writing to your good self to express my deep concern and anguish over the very critical issue of Insanitary Condition in Kumbakonam Town. Our locality is a literal hell of squalor, garbage heaps, broken roads, overflowing manholes, stagnated water, and reeking smell. As a result malaria, dengue, viral fever are quite rampant. Many residents of our colony had to be hospitalized on account of these diseases. The inefficiency of Municipal authorities is so hopeless; in spite of repeated requests, reminders and complaints, no action has been taken to relive us of our distress. Through the medium of your esteemed daily I appeal to the concerned authorities to look into the matter and take speedy measures to bail us out of our plight.

Thanking you.

Yours Sincerely,

This is a story about Zigzag, a multilingual bird. Dr. Somu who left for Alaska asked Dr. Krishnan to shelter him. Visu brought him to Dr. Krishnan's house. He did not speak to anyone though he could talk and sing in 21 languages. Instead, he transferred the fruits and nuts to a chandelier and the fan plates.

Then he perched on a curtain rod and went to sleep. When the fan was switched on the fruit slices fell off spoiling the painting of Mrs. Krishnan. She got irritated and told her husband to send Zigzag to Visu's house. Dr. Krishnan took him to his clinic.
