Q1-12-ENG-P-3

44. (a) Write a summary of the following passage.

The aim of education is the overall development of the personality of man. It means the development of not only the mind but also the body. Games keep the body fit. Swami Vivekananda was of the view that only a healthy mind can realise God. But a healthy mind can dwell only in a healthy body. For this reason, Swami Vivekananda has advised that all young men and women should play games regularly. Games help to build a muscular body. They include sound sleep which is a sign of good health. Therefore, games are food for the body as knowledge is food for the mind. In fact, all work and no play make Jack a dull boy. Games help us to keep our body active and vigorous. When a person plays games his blood circulation increases and his digestive system improves. He does not fall prey to any disease. Games foster the qualities of fair play. Good players maintain equanimity in the event of victory or defeat.

Mr. Bean is a television series created by Rowan Atkinson and Richard Curtis. The series was aired from 1990 - 1995. It was first released in U.K. as a live action comedy. It was also made into an animated series later for children. Atkinson plays the role of the protagonist 'Mr. Bean' with great comic timing. He admits to having conceived the character within a span of 48 hours while he was studying in Oxford. Following the style of old silent films, Mr. Bean rarely speaks, but his facial expressions and physical gestures convey the plot of each episode. As language is not an issue, this series has been broadcast in about 200 countries around the world.

Questions
