25. Read the following paragraph and answer the questions given below.

In the bustling city of Chicago in the early 20th century, a man named Garrett Morgan invented something that would forever change the way people lived. He created the traffic signal, a device to control the chaotic flow of vehicles and pedestrians in the streets. The inspiration came after he witnessed a severe car accident at an intersection. Realizing the need for a system to regulate traffic, Morgan developed the first three-position traffic light, which introduced a yellow light to warn drivers to slow down before stopping. This simple yet ingenious invention drastically reduced accidents and improved road safety, making urban life more organized and safer.

Questions:

- (i) Where did Garrett Morgan get the inspiration for his traffic signal invention?
(ii) What major impact did the traffic signal have on urban life?
(iii) What innovation did Morgan's traffic signal introduce that we still use today?
(iv) Write the name of your favorite inventor or the invention that you find particularly inspiring.
