47. Read the following pragraph and answer the questions below.

Elephants are considered keystone and umbrella species as they play a key role within the environment that they live in. As elephants live in herds and require large habitable areas, they tend to change the surrounding, atmosphere from forests to grasslands and help to disburse the seeds in an ecosystem that has no natural means of pollinating the area. An elephant requires around 70 to 100 litres of water everyday. Therefore, the elephants in dry zones and dry seasons, dig holes in riverbeds in order to collect water and help sustain water for other species as well. The elephants' habit of clearing the path they roam has acted as natural buffer zones when forest fires take place.

Questions:

- (a) What are the elephants considered as?
- (b) How many litres of water does an elephant require everyday?
- (c) Where do they dig holes to collect water?
- (d) What acts aa buffer zones during the forest fires?

- 29. The young seagull was afraid of flying. His parents strove their level best to teach the young seagull to fly. The parents, brothers and sister thought a plan to teach him to fly. They flew away to another rock and left him alone. They did not give him anything to eat. He stood there on one leg and closed his eyes. He was very hungry. He searched for food everywhere. He even chewed the dried pieces of the eggshells. He saw his mother tearing a piece of fish. He begged his mother to give him food. So the mother flew with the piece of fish to the young seagull. When she reached over him, she became motionless in the air. She did not get down on the rock. She wanted to give the young seagull an incentive to fly. The seagull bent forward and jumped at the fish. He was much frightened. But he began to flap his wings to save himself.
- In his childhood, Sasanka Sanyal was a brilliant student. He always stood in the first position. He used to recite Tagore's poems. Aditya, who studied with him, was jealous of him. Aditya could never beat him. One day, Sanyal received a prize for recitation of Tagore's poem 'Panraksha'. Aditya could not bear it. He took the medal from him and never returned it. Sanyal was angry but did not show it out. After twenty-nine years, they met again in uncle Nagen's tea shop. Sanyal led a cursed life. But he did not forget any incident of the past. He sold his lands to get his only daughter married. He lost his wife and his only son the previous year. Since then, he was somewhat changed. When Aditya offered him ₹150 as a price for the medal, he refused it. He only wanted his lost glory back - the medal. When he got back the medal, he was happy.
- 31. Technology impacts the environment, people and the society as a whole. The way we use technology determines if its impacts are positive to the society or negative. We use mobile phones, tablet, Digital Dictionary, e-Book reader and video games as the latest technology. All these are useful to make our - work easier. It makes us to keep in touch with our family members by talking to them, whenever we want to. We can see our relatives, who live far away from us. It also helps us to make friends, communicate with them and control our environment. It can help us to study, get qualifications and find opportunities for work. It can make us confident and independent. Learning has now become a more inclusive way for us by this technology.

- 32. In honour of his last French lesson, M. Hamel put on his fine Sunday clothes and the old villagers were present to respect his forty years of faithful service. In the class room Hamel told Franz that the Prussians would find fault with the Frenchmen that they did not know to read or write French. As he spoke about many things, he said that French was the language to be held and guarded to be used as a key to the prison of the enslaved. He took a grammar lesson, a lesson in writing and kept gazing at the garden and the classroom where he had spent 40 years of his life. When the trumpets of the Prussians were finally blown, M. Hamel stood up, but could not speak out of grief and wrote "Long Live France" in French on the blackboard and dismissed the school.
- 33. The central theme of the poem is about the oneness of mankind. Though there are many countries, races, colour, languages, castes and creeds all are human beings. We occupy the same land and die in the same land. Hands work hard, eyes witness the same life, we are all fed by peaceful harvests. Attacking others who are neighbours in the same planet is nothing but harming one self. Hence no land is foreign, no man is a stranger.
- 34. Today's women are empowered, brave, strong, and resolute. They are always ready to take up new ventures. They are persistent and work tirelessly to prove what they are capable of. Every woman is naturally beautiful. She is the symbol of power and strength. She is prone to put her life at risk. Every woman is true in expressing her love towards her dear ones. She is never fake. She continues to care for her near ones. She has no fear of anything. She is forceful in her faith and beliefs. Thus women had to be treated respectfully for the growth of a nation.

 - This is a true story of a little boy with a brave heart. Many years ago in Holland there was a boy named Peter. His father tended the gates in the dikes. When Peter was 8 years old, his mother called him and told him to give cakes to his blind friend. Peter gave cakes to his blind friend and remembered to get back early. On his way back, he noticed a leak in the dike. There was a hole in it. Realizing the danger, he climbed down the side of the dike and thrust his finger into the tiny hole. He stayed there very long, shouted for help and screamed. No one came. Next day morning, a man saw Peter. Peter told him that he was keeping the water back. The alarm was spread. People came running with shovels and the hole was soon mended. The whole town soon came to know that how the brave hero had saved their lives.

(b) Many years ago, In China, the Emperor ordered that one man from each family must join the army. Mulan heard it and told her father. She wanted to join the army. Her father objected to it as she was a girl. She wore her father's robes and cut her hair. She convinced him. Earlier she had learnt Kung Fu from him. She told that no one would find her as a girl. She left the village and joined the army. She fought bravely in the war. She became the General of the army. Very soon, a fever swept the army. Mulan fell sick. When the doctor examined her, he found the truth and spread the news in the army. Everyone objected to following a girl leader. Just then, a battle came. With a good plan, she commanded the soldiers. They followed her and attacked their enemies and won the battle. The Emperor was glad. He offered her a position of a Royal Adviser in his palace. But she refused. Then the Emperor gifted her with six horses and six swords. Mulan went back to her village.

 - (b) An elephant requires around 70 to 100 litres of water everyday.
 - (c) They dig holes in riverbeds in order to collect water
 - (d) The elephants' habit of clearing the path they roam has acted as natural buffer zones when forest fires take place.

(OR)

- (a) People and places and all sorts of things jump out of a book to take us to a new world.
- (b) Dinosaurs walk on the earth like thunder.
- (c) The toys would be broken, or, when they became old nobody would like to play with it. But the books are not like that. So they are better than toys.
- (d) I would like to read story books.
