

INDEX

S.NO	TLTLE	PAGE NO
1	Rabindranath Tagore - Gitanjali	1
2	Nissim Ezeikel - Goodbye Party to Miss Pushpa	30
3	Toru Dutt - Our Casuarina Tree	35
4	Kamala Das - An Introduction	43
5	Sujatha Bhatt - A Different History	49
6	Jawaharlal Nehru - An Autobiography	55
7	Dr. B.R. Ambedkar - Annihilation of Caste	73
8	Mulk Raj Anand - Coolie	88
9	Kamala Markandeya - A Handful of Rice	109
10	Arundathi Roy - The God of Small Things	123
11	Girish Karnad - Hayavadana	143
12	Vijay Tendulkar - Silence! The Court is in Session	160
13	Mahasweta Devi - Rudali	177
14	Mahesh Dattani - Dance like a Man	184

GITANJALI

Song 1: The Vessel and the Flute

In this song, the poet imagines himself as a frail vessel that God continually recreates and fills with new life. The symbolism of the human body is compared to an earthen pot that is often destroyed and reshaped. Life is endlessly reincarnated. The poet also sees himself as a humble flute made of reed, on which God plays eternal melodies. The joy the poet feels while singing is inexplicable. Despite his small hands, he receives infinite gifts from God, and his heart continues to expand, symbolizing the ups and downs of life as hills and dales carried by God.

Song 2: The Singer and the Song

This song presents two images: one of the poet as a singer commanded by God, and another of the poet's song as a bird unfolding its wings and touching God's feet. The poet feels proud and honored to be chosen by God. Through this act of singing, the poet surrenders to God and gains such intimacy with Him that he calls God his friend.

Song 3: The Music of the Divine

In this song, the poet imagines the world as God's music, a force that illuminates and activates everything. The music of God is likened to a light, a breath, and a river that flows endlessly. The poet struggles to express his response to this divine music, feeling captivated and baffled. He feels trapped in the meshes of God's eternal music.

Song 4: Preparing the Heart for God

In this simple song, the poet compares himself to a host preparing his house for a great guest: God. Since God resides in his innermost heart, the poet vows to keep his body, mind, and soul clean from untruths and evil thoughts. All his actions should reflect the divine presence within him, acknowledging that it is only through God's strength that he can act.

Song 5: The Bridal Mysticism

This song uses bridal mysticism, a literary device that compares the poet's relationship with God to that of an ardent lover and a cold-hearted beloved. The poet asks God's permission to sit by His side, just as the lover seeks the beloved's presence. The poet desires silent communion with God, which brings him peace. Without this divine connection, the poet's life feels like meaningless toil. The poet sees God in simple, natural phenomena like the buzzing of bees in the summer, symbolizing the divine in everyday life.

Ancient Ballads and Legends of Hindustan (1882, Posthumous)

- ❖ A collection of original English poems, published after her death by her father.
- ❖ It includes famous poems such as "Savitri," "Sita," "Lakshman," and "The Royal Ascetic and the Hind", which retell Indian legends from the Mahabharata and Ramayana.
- ❖ Toru Dutt's poetry reflects a blend of Indian mythology and Victorian literary style, showcasing a unique fusion of the East and the West.
- ❖ Some of the major themes in this collection include heroism, devotion, fate, and the role of women in Indian society.

Notable Poems from Ancient Ballads and Legends of Hindustan

"Savitri"

- ❖ Based on the Mahabharata, this poem narrates the story of Savitri, a devoted wife who brings her husband back from death through her wisdom and faithfulness.
- ❖ The poem highlights female strength, devotion, and resilience.

"Lakshman"

- ❖ A dramatic dialogue between Sita and Lakshman, set during Sita's abduction by Ravana in the Ramayana.
- ❖ It captures Sita's anger and despair as Lakshman refuses to leave his duty and go after Rama.

"The Lotus"

- ❖ A symbolic poem comparing the lotus (associated with Hindu deities) to the lily (Western ideals of purity) and the rose (symbolizing love and beauty).
- ❖ It represents Toru Dutt's fusion of Eastern and Western cultures.

Prose Works

Bianca, or The Young Spanish Maiden (Unfinished, Written in English)

- ❖ A historical romance novel set in Spain, showcasing Toru Dutt's knowledge of European history and literature.
- ❖ It was left incomplete due to her untimely death.

Le Journal de Mademoiselle d'Arvers (1879, Posthumous, Written in French)

- ❖ This is one of the first Indian novels written in French.
- ❖ It is a semi-autobiographical work about a young woman struggling with loneliness and longing for love.
- ❖ The novel reflects European Romanticism, with themes of melancholy, personal suffering, and an exploration of emotions.

But my sad woman-body felt so beaten.
 The weight of my breasts and womb crushed me.
 I shrank Pitifully.
 Then ... I wore a shirt and my
 Brother's trousers, cut my hair short and ignored
 My womanliness. Dress in sarees, be girl
 Be wife, they said. Be embroiderer, be cook,
 Be a quarreller with servants. Fit in. Oh,
 Belong, cried the categorizers. Don't sit
 On walls or peep in through our lace-draped windows.
 Be Amy, or be Kamala. Or, better
 Still, be Madhavikutty. It is time to Choose a name, a role. Don't play pretending games.
 Don't play at schizophrenia or be a
 Nympho. Don't cry embarrassingly loud when Jilted in love ... I met a man, loved him. Call
 Him not by any name, he is every man
 Who wants. a woman, just as I am every Woman who seeks love. In him... the hungry haste
 Of rivers, in me... the oceans' tireless
 Waiting. Who are you, I ask each and everyone
 The answer is, it is I. Anywhere and,
 Everywhere, I see the one who calls himself I
 In this world, he is tightly packed like the Sword in its sheath. It is I who drink lonely
 Drinks at twelve, midnight, in hotels of strange towns,
 It is I who laugh, it is I who make love
 And then, feel shame, it is I who lie dying
 With a rattle in my throat. I am sinner,
 I am saint. I am the beloved and the Betrayed. I have no joys that are not yours, no
 Aches which are not yours. I too call myself I.

DETAILED SUMMARY

The Speaker Talks About Politics

The speaker begins by saying she does not know anything about politics. But still, she knows the names of the people in power. She can repeat their names easily, just like she can say the days of the week or the months of the year. She says her list of political leaders begins with Nehru, who was India's first Prime Minister after independence.

A DIFFERENT HISTORY - SUJATA BHATT

Life:

- ❖ Born: May 6, 1956, in Ahmedabad, Gujarat, India.
- ❖ She grew up in a multilingual environment, speaking Gujarati at home, Hindi in school, and English in literature studies.
- ❖ In 1968, at the age of 12, she moved with her family to Pune and later to the United States, where she continued her education.
- ❖ She studied at the University of Iowa, earning an MFA in Creative Writing from the famous Iowa Writers' Workshop.
- ❖ She married the German writer Michael Augustin and later moved to Germany, where she currently resides.
- ❖ Her international experiences deeply influenced her poetry, making her one of the most prominent Indian diasporic poets writing in English.

Major Works

Poetry Collections

Brunizem (1988)

- ❖ Debut collection, which won the Commonwealth Poetry Prize (Asia).
- ❖ The title refers to a type of soil found in the Indian subcontinent, symbolizing roots and belonging.
- ❖ Famous poems:
  - "Search for My Tongue" - A powerful poem about the conflict between her mother tongue (Gujarati) and English.
  - "Muliebrity" - A nostalgic poem about a girl in India collecting cow dung, celebrating female strength and dignity.

Monkey Shadows (1991)

- ❖ Explores themes of childhood memories, cultural identity, and the supernatural.
- ❖ She often reflects on the contrast between India and the West.

The Stinking Rose (1995)

- ❖ A unique collection centered around garlic, using it as a metaphor for cultural differences and sensory experiences.
- ❖ Poems in this collection examine relationships, history, and politics.

Augatora (2000)

- ❖ Explores Indian mythology, Hindu gods, and philosophical themes.
- ❖ She experiments with language and memory, reflecting on her identity as a global poet.

A Colour for Solitude (2002)

- ❖ A historical and feminist collection based on the life of the German painter Paula Modersohn-Becker.

- ❖ Nehru's writing is eloquent, analytical, and deeply introspective, revealing his doubts, frustrations, and hopes for India.
- ❖ The autobiography is divided into 68 chapters, each covering different phases of his life and India's struggle for freedom.

Significance and Impact

- ❖ The book became a landmark in Indian political literature, offering a firsthand account of India's nationalist movement.
- ❖ It showcased Nehru's intellectual depth, socialist leanings, and commitment to democracy and secularism.
- ❖ It remains an essential read for understanding India's pre-independence history, Nehru's leadership, and the ideological foundations of modern India.

Part 1: Childhood and Early Life

Chapter 1: Earliest Memories

Nehru begins by recalling his childhood in Anand Bhavan, Allahabad, where he grew up in a privileged and well-educated family. His father, Motilal Nehru, was a wealthy lawyer, and his mother, Swaruprani Nehru, belonged to a traditional Kashmiri Brahmin family. Nehru remembers growing up with servants and tutors, experiencing a blend of Indian traditions and Western influences. He describes himself as a shy, sensitive child with a strong imagination.

Chapter 2: Family and Background

Nehru provides a detailed account of his family's history. His father, Motilal Nehru, was westernized, progressive, and influential in both legal and political circles. Motilal initially lived a luxurious lifestyle, embracing British customs, but later turned towards nationalism. Nehru discusses his father's shifting political ideologies, which would later shape his own.

Chapter 3: Education at Home

Since Nehru belonged to an elite family, he did not attend regular school but was educated at home by private tutors. His earliest teacher was Ferdinand T. Brooks, an Englishman who influenced Nehru's thinking. He studied history, science, and literature, though he felt lonely and isolated due to the lack of interaction with other children. His father encouraged reading and debate, which helped develop Nehru's critical thinking skills.

Chapter 4: Influence of Nationalism

Although Nehru's father was a loyalist to the British in his early years, he gradually became more nationalistic, which impacted young Nehru's thoughts. The Partition of

Legacy

- ❖ Dr. Ambedkar is widely regarded as the "Father of the Indian Constitution" for his pivotal role in drafting the document.
- ❖ His efforts laid the foundation for social justice policies in India, including affirmative action for Dalits and other marginalized communities.
- ❖ His birth anniversary, April 14, is celebrated as Ambedkar Jayanti, a national holiday in India.
- ❖ His ideas continue to influence political, social, and legal reforms in India.

Awards and Honors of Dr. B.R. Ambedkar

- ❖ Bharat Ratna (1990) – India's highest civilian award, given posthumously for his contributions to the nation.
- ❖ Columbia University Recognition (2004) – Honored as one of its most influential alumni.
- ❖ Honorary Doctorate (1956) – Awarded by Osmania University for his work in law and social reform.

B.R. AMBEDKAR'S ANNIHILATION OF CASTE

Invitation to Speak

In December 1935, Dr. B.R. Ambedkar received an invitation from the Jat-Pat-Todak Mandal, a group of Hindu social reformers, to give a speech at their conference. Their goal was to eliminate the caste system in Hindu society.

Initial Refusal

Ambedkar initially refused the invitation because he distrusted caste Hindus and felt their approach to social reform was different from his. However, the Mandal insisted and even sent a representative to convince him. Eventually, Ambedkar agreed to become the President of the conference.

Conference Postponed & Canceled

The conference, originally scheduled for Easter, was postponed to May 1936. Later, the Mandal unexpectedly canceled the conference after Ambedkar had already written and printed his speech.

Dispute Over Printing

A disagreement arose over where the speech should be printed. Ambedkar wanted it printed in Bombay, while the Mandal wanted it printed in Lahore to save costs. Ambedkar insisted on Bombay, leading to tensions.

1. Introduction – Why I Am an Unlikely President for This Conference

Ambedkar says that the Jat-Pat-Todak Mandal has taken a big risk by inviting him as President because many Hindus dislike his views. He criticizes the Hindu religion, especially the caste system, and even Gandhi, so people see him as dangerous—like a snake in a garden.

He points out that Hindu scriptures (Shastras) allow only Brahmins to be spiritual leaders. He mentions how Ramdas, a famous saint, believed low-caste people can never be gurus. So, inviting him as President is against religious tradition, and many will be angry.

Ambedkar usually avoids religious platforms, but he accepted this invitation because the Mandal seems genuinely interested in reform. However, he warns that he will speak honestly, even if his words are harsh and uncomfortable.

2. Why Social Reform Must Come Before Political Reform

Ambedkar explains that in the early years of India's freedom struggle, there were two movements:

- One for political freedom (led by Congress).
- Another for social reform (like removing caste and improving society).

Over time, politics became the main focus, and social reform was neglected. Leaders like Tilak believed politics was more important than social change. Congress leaders like W.C. Bonnerji even said that issues like child marriage or widow remarriage had nothing to do with political independence.

But Ambedkar disagrees. He says that political freedom means nothing if people still suffer from social injustice like caste. He gives real-life examples of caste discrimination:

- In Peshwa rule, untouchables couldn't walk freely or let their shadows touch Brahmins.
- In Indore, upper-caste people made Dalits follow unfair rules.
- In Gujarat, Dalit women were attacked for using metal pots.
- In Jaipur, a Dalit was beaten for serving ghee at a feast.

Ambedkar questions: Is India ready for self-rule if it still treats its own people like this?

He says the social reform movement failed because it only focused on family issues, like marriage, and not the caste system itself. Reformers didn't want to give up their caste privileges.

He gives examples from history to prove that social change must come before political change:

- In Europe, Martin Luther and the Reformation led to freedom.
- In India, Buddhism and the Bhakti movement helped kings like Chandragupta and Shivaji bring political change.
- Sikhism also changed society before political change happened.

DETAILED SUMMARY

1. Life in the Village (Bilaspur)

Munoo is a fourteen-year-old boy living in the village of Bilaspur, which lies in the Kangra hills near the Beas River. He is in the fifth standard and goes to the village school. Among his friends like Bishan and Bishamber, Munoo is the leader. However, Jai Singh, the landlord's son, competes with him for leadership, showing early signs of class conflict.

Munoo spends his days happily grazing cows with his friends, climbing trees, and plucking mangoes. He is good at hopping from one tree to another. But this happy time comes to an end when he has to leave the village with his uncle Daya Ram and aunt Gujri to go to Sham Nagar, a town ten miles away.

Earlier, Munoo's father had borrowed money from the village landlord. Due to poor rainfall and a bad harvest, he could not pay back the interest. The landlord took away his farm and cattle, and this shock and grief caused Munoo's father to die. After that, Munoo's mother worked hard to take care of both Munoo and his young uncle, Daya Ram. But she also died, leaving Munoo an orphan. Now, he lives with his uncle and aunt, who treat him as a burden. Despite all these hardships, Munoo remained cheerful and satisfied – until he had to leave for town to start working.

2. Journey to Sham Nagar

Daya Ram, Munoo's uncle, is a peon (chaprasi) at the Imperial Bank in Sham Nagar. He is proud of being a government worker. Munoo walks with his uncle on the road to Sham Nagar. It's a long ten-mile journey. Munoo's feet hurt and he has blisters, but his uncle doesn't let him rest because he's worried about being late for work.

As a cart passes by, Munoo asks if he can ride it, but his uncle refuses. Every time Munoo walks slowly, his uncle threatens to beat him. So Munoo continues, though exhausted. As they near the town, Munoo is fascinated by the things he sees: different carriages, shops, toys, sweets, and especially the train engine, which he asks about, thinking it is some kind of animal. It's the first time he's seeing such new and exciting things.

Munoo Gets a Job at Babu Nathoo Ram's House

At the Imperial Bank, Daya Ram takes Munoo to Babu Nathoo Ram, a sub-accountant, who is looking for a boy servant. Munoo is hired for a salary of three rupees a month, with food and shelter provided. Babu Nathoo Ram takes Munoo home and introduces him to his wife, Bibi Uttam Kaur (called Bibiji), and their children: two daughters – Sheila and Lila, and a son – Prem Nath, a medical student.

Munoo expects to rest and eat after the long journey, but instead, he is immediately sent to the market to buy vegetables. Bibiji is short-tempered, abuses him, and often curses loudly.

THE GOD OF SMALL THINGS- ARUNDHATI ROY

- ❖ Name: Suzanna Arundhati Roy
- ❖ Birth: 24 November 1961, Shillong, Meghalaya, India
- ❖ Parents: Mary Roy (women's rights activist) and Rajib Roy (tea plantation manager)
- ❖ Childhood: Parents divorced; raised in Kerala
- ❖ Education: Attended Corpus Christi, Kottayam; Lawrence School, Lovedale; studied architecture at the School of Planning and Architecture, Delhi
- ❖ Marriages: Married Gerard da Cunha (1978-1982); married filmmaker Pradip Krishen in 1984
- ❖ Career Start: Worked at the National Institute of Urban Affairs
- ❖ Film Career: Acted in Massey Sahib (1985); wrote screenplays for In Which Annie Gives It Those Ones (1989) and Electric Moon (1992)
- ❖ Financial Success: Gained security from The God of Small Things

Career Highlights

- ❖ Screenplay Awards: National Film Award for Best Screenplay (1989)
- ❖ Critique of Film: Criticized Bandit Queen (1994) in her review "The Great Indian Rape Trick"

Writing Career:

- ❖ The God of Small Things (completed 1996)
- ❖ Received favorable reviews and commercial success
- ❖ Subsequent works include The Ministry of Utmost Happiness (2017)

Awards and Recognition

- ❖ Booker Prize: 1997 for The God of Small Things
- ❖ Other Awards:
  - Lannan Foundation Cultural Freedom Award (2002)
  - Sydney Peace Prize (2004)
  - Sahitya Akademi Award (2006, declined)
  - Norman Mailer Prize for Distinguished Writing (2011)
- ❖ Recent Awards:
  - 2022 St. Louis Literary Award
  - 2023 European Essay Prize (lifetime achievement)
  - 2024 PEN Pinter Prize

The God of Small Things

- ❖ The God of Small Things is a family drama novel written by Indian writer Arundhati Roy.
- ❖ It is a story about the childhood experiences of fraternal twins whose lives are destroyed by the "Love Laws" prevalent in the 1960s Kerala, India.
- ❖ The novel also explores the lingering effects of casteism in India, lending a culturally specific critique of British colonialism in India.
- ❖ The God of Small Things was Roy's debut novel, published in 1997.
- ❖ It won the Booker Prize in 1997.

CHARACTER LIST

- ❖ Rahel: Rahel is the main girl in the story. She's a twin, and after 23 years, she comes back to her family home.
- ❖ Estha: Estha is Rahel's twin brother. He doesn't speak much because of a sad event from his childhood.
- ❖ Ammu: Ammu is the mother of Estha and Rahel. She falls in love with someone she shouldn't, and it leads to tragedy for her family.
- ❖ Velutha: Velutha is from a lower caste. He falls in love with Ammu, and this causes problems for him and the family.
- ❖ Baby Kochamma: Baby Kochamma is a controlling and mean woman. She is Rahel and Estha's great-aunt and lives in the family home.
- ❖ Sophie Mol: Sophie Mol is the daughter of Chacko and Margaret. She comes to visit, and her death is a big event in the story.
- ❖ Aleyooty Ammachi: Aleyooty Ammachi is the great-grandmother of the twins. She is an old woman in a painting in the family home.
- ❖ Baba: Baba is the father of Estha and Rahel, but he isn't in their lives much.
- ❖ Baba's father: Baba's father is an important man who dies before Estha and Rahel are born.
- ❖ Balls-in-Brackets: This is a nickname for a man who carried luggage at a train station. The kids don't like him.
- ❖ Adoor Basi: Adoor Basi is a comedian who is at the airport when Sophie Mol arrives.
- ❖ Bellboy: The bellboy takes the family's luggage to their rooms the night before Sophie Mol comes.
- ❖ Chacko: Chacko is Rahel and Estha's uncle. He is a lazy man who doesn't do much with his life.
- ❖ Chella: Chella is Velutha's mother. She dies of tuberculosis while Velutha is away.
- ❖ Conductor: The conductor is a bus worker who gets annoyed when Ammu and her kids don't know where they are going.

DANCE LIKE A MAN

- ❖ The play Dance Like a Man was first performed on September 22, 1989 at Chowdiah Memorial Hall in Bangalore, India.
- ❖ The play was directed by Mahesh Dattani, who also wrote the play.
- ❖ He is the first playwright in English to have won the 'Sahitya Akademi Award'.
- ❖ Dance Like a Man is a two-act stage play.
- ❖ The story revolves around three generations, their personal ambition, their sacrifices, their struggle and compromises, internal conflict and the way they cope up with life and dance being the major topic of discussion in the house as it is a topic of debate between the father and his son and daughter-in-law.

CHARACTER LIST

Jairaj:

- ❖ The male protagonist, a Bharatanatyam dancer.
- ❖ He is Ratna's husband and the son of Amritlal.
- ❖ Jairaj struggles with societal expectations of masculinity and his passion for dance, which is often seen as a feminine art form.
- ❖ His relationship with his father is strained due to his career choice.

Ratna:

- ❖ Jairaj's wife and a fellow Bharatanatyam dancer.
- ❖ She is more pragmatic and ambitious than Jairaj, often pushing him to succeed in their dance careers.
- ❖ Ratna represents the challenges faced by women in balancing personal and professional lives.

Amritlal:

- ❖ Jairaj's father, a conservative and traditional man.
- ❖ He disapproves of Jairaj's career in dance, viewing it as unmanly and inappropriate.
- ❖ His rigid views on gender roles create conflict within the family.

Lata:

- ❖ Jairaj and Ratna's daughter.
- ❖ She is a modern, independent woman who aspires to be a dancer like her parents.
- ❖ Lata's character highlights generational differences and the evolving attitudes toward art and gender.

Vishwas:

- ❖ Lata's fiancé or husband (depending on the context).
- ❖ He represents the younger generation's perspective on tradition and modernity.
- ❖ His relationship with Lata is a subplot that reflects changing societal norms.